How To Find More Joy

Shape Your Today in the Design of His Word

"But godliness with contentment is great gain.

For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out.

And having food and raiment let us be therewith content."

From I Timothy 6

The Great Love of God

Aaron A. Sauder

Again we see and behold the great love and mercy of God for mankind. When a soul has known the ways of God for many years, and has attended the services and had a longing in her heart to become a child of God and an heir with Christ, and repented many years ago, but through the cunningness of Satan, could not be strong enough in faith to make the final step and be baptized. But God in His great love granted her the grace and faith that in the last days of her life, even on her death-bed, she could yet have faith and was baptized seven weeks before she passed into eternity, at the age of 71 years.

We praise and thank our dear Lord for His wonderful love and mercy. But we do not recommend or advise to any soul to wait until their course is run, for it may be for ever too late, for God will not be mocked.

Living Happy Ever After

Henry Souder Jr.

The night threads through the soul, but the toiling stitcher finds no joy in its artless chases.

The bosomed unrest of existing in a thousand centuries could yield naught but empty frustration.

But Jesus calls us out of the pained yesterdays.

"Now when the sun was setting, all they that had any sick with divers diseases brought them unto him; and he laid his hands on every one of them, and healed them."

How many who now read this will be counted that golden grain of eternity?

When time will have been leafed over . . . how many of those we love so much will be with us?

Day would soon fade into night.

Now the beauty of a departing sun glowed from His hand. The rippled waters of the sea were touched in sunset colors from His heart.

He had come to bring things that the eye had never seen, neither the ear heard, and they had never even entered the heart.

That day also faded, yet still God gave another.

"And great multitudes were gathered together unto him, so that he went into a ship, and sat; and the whole multitude stood on the shore."

Sin had sapped the color out of life.

Fruitless fantasy, how futilely it provides!

But, oh, the fountain of love, the dawn of pleasure, the blessing of Home . . . the riches of true satisfaction . . . found in Christ Jesus.

He told in simple words glorious mystery.

The good seed is sown. He told of the trampled way of hardened dust. He told of the stones and the shallow places. He told of the crowded weeds that choke. But then He spake of the good ground where the seed grew and increased.

"And the same day, when the even was come, he saith unto them, Let us pass over unto the other side."

The Lord of Solendor brings glory and peace into the heart.

Though we live and work in buildings merely temporary, He builds great.

Alone He saves from those flaming canyons of eternal darkness. When the creeping blight of night threatens to blind out all Light, He speaks and the soul begins to stir.

He speaks the glistening beauty of morning. His Life awakens the soul to a world gloriously snow-white . . . beyond the fondest dream of surprises . . .

For it is real.

"And there arose a great storm of wind, and the waves beat into the ship, so that it was now full."

Repentance is the only way to prepare the heart for Christ.

The clouds of the soul seem to deepen. The mirrored blue and the seemingly tranquil roll are gone. The vessel surges and rolls and tosses on the thundering waters.

The storm is of God. What but wondrous ways could bring the miracle of heaven to our souls!

The very tremors of the storm bring a falling to our knees. We cry out for mercy!

". . . and they awake him, and say unto him, Master, carest thou not that we perish?"

Fear's frenzied hunch fearfully speaks to reveal not. Confession is from the Hand of God, working with our soul.

There was Another who took the whip out of the darkening skies. His bleeding back brings healing to our souls.

He died under the very same skies that darken our soul. And, wonder of wonders, we find Him in our vessel, being in human flesh, being made sin for us. And we are made right with God in Him!

"And he arose, and rebuked the wind, and said unto the sea, Peace, be still."

The footprints of His suffering is the path of God for His church.

In this day, the work yet to be done is tremendous and wonderful.

But we are also confronted with a challenge. We are in the crucible of the test. Only the might and power of God can secure the church in the tremendous tremors of the onslaught.

God whispers His courage.

We soar into victory. Though spent, we rise from our very weariness and secure the foundations.

"And when he was come out of the ship, immediately there met him out of the tombs a man with an unclean spirit, Who had his dwelling among the tombs;"

Do we really realize how unclean the darkness is?

Sin rules the night! It numbs. It beheads man of his very soul.

Civilization is sin-ruled very deep.

There is a drifting dizziness, a danger in fixing our eyes on the flow of the broad way. There is danger of paralleling its movement, of being carried into its frenzied waters.

Only in Christ is light and freedom.

But how uncomfortable and restless is the soul in sin,

"and no man could bind him, no, not with chains: Because that he had been often bound with fetters and chains, and the chains had been plucked asunder by him, and the fetters broken in pieces:"

Demons of darkness have made dungeons of men's souls. They attach and entwine. They stab their sins. They fog their fun in the dense bleakness.

Beloved, these are the controlling haunts that so often darken national media today. We must shake ourselves, or we shall be engrossed in their tactics.

They control lines and lines and pages and pages of reading. They entomb hours and hours of the TV station with their antics. So often, hour after hour, they people the air waves. How can we enjoy the demoned pressure, forcibly pushing with the untrue, the unlovely, the impure!

But think rather what great things Jesus has done for you!

"And he departed, and began to publish in Decapolis how great things Jesus had done for him: and all men did marvel."

There is a last step that is over the threshold of eternity.

Do you really want to live happy ever after?

Sound Teaching

Holding the true and spurning the false.

Jesus desires His people to be in the best of spiritual health.

What are proven practices in the church find their power in His Spirit. Grounded in His precious word, proven treasures of tradition is God's Hand keeping His people and seeking the erring.

"Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause divisions and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them."

False teaching is deadly contagious. Unless isolated through separation and avoidance, its germs are deadly dangerous and destructive through contact. Thus we feel God's guiding hand keeping His church spotless and white.

But what criterion has God given to tell sound teaching? His word is His standard of perfection. And when we can see those gospel principles so freely flowing in practice, we should hold fast.

The boundary line of God is sharp and clear.

"But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed."

Tremendously weighty words. Especially more since Christ will one day be the judge.

How then may we keep in the shelter of the fold? Obedience, doing the Way He explained it. This brings Christ's safety to glory.

As the stars in yonder heaven were each placed by His command, so the workers in His organization are placed by His Spirit.

Some carry out His desires to watch over the flock and guide it. These are the overseers or elders.

There are those, it is revealed in holy wisdom, who have the express gift of telling a true spirit from a false.

Together we work as a team and in His success know no defeat. "Holding faith, and a good conscience; which some having put away concerning faith have made shipwreck:"

Certain tell-tale marks blemish the record of the sinking star.

They despise government, that is, they thwart God's command for themselves, pushing away the Shepherding Voice of God. They heap to themselves solely and proudly, the task of telling of spirits. They blunder by their blindness, stumbling away from the Light.

But those who have kept steadily in sight the heavenly goal unconsciously radiate the mark of true wisdom. They find greater freedom in greater obedience, and are able to delight in the gift God has given to others.

"And we desire that every one of you do shew the same diligence to the full assurance of hope unto the end:"

Then, we shall be satisfied.

JAPAN

Reporters: Willis and Lois Ehnlé
1384 Kaneko-machi,
Chofu-shi
Tokyo-To, Japan

In the country church, where thirteen members and many seekers attend, we recently observed the Lord's Supper. It was a time of real thanksgiving and appreciation to the Lord of all for His sacrifice for even us.

The one lovely young sister in front of me stood in a deeply reverent position. This sister's lovely soprano voice was outstanding as we sang together a translation of the familiar Zion's Harp hymn number 200, entitled "Communion."

All the country church members were present and also the two who are presently working in Tokyo.

A young man who has repented and was announced for proving and baptism on that day also, suddenly asked to have more time to think it over. This was quite a blow to us, as we thought he was firmly grounded and had a sufficient waiting period. Kazuhiko Mizukami is his name. We call him by his last name with san added for politeness.

Sisters Asakawa and Atsumi are the Sunday School teachers at the country church. We have called for a meeting of all the believers in the church for October 4, at which time we hope to discuss the benefits of Sunday School and our needs, hoping to arouse some interest among the believers so we will have some volunteers for teaching positions. We should have at least three teachers to take care of all the children.

This past week I searched for a tomato catsup recipe and finally found one. We plan to stay in the country several days after attending services there this coming Sunday evening, and the following days I hope to share my recipe with the sisters. Canning and preserving food is altogether unknown to them; hence their winter diet is very lean. With the Lord's help I have taught them canning of peaches, and peach and grape jam. We save all our jars and share them with the country folk.

Here on the outskirts of Tokyo we are rejoicing over our new church and dwelling place. We finally have the property registered with the government in the name of the Tsutsuji-ga-oka Apostolic Christian Church. Tsutsuji-ga-oka is the name of our local train station and will probably become the name of this machi, or village, before long.

This has been a long and wearying task, but He gives power to the faint and to them that have no might He increases strength. Mr. Utsuki, whose business is in taxes, has carried the weight of this load and has been very cooperative in setting up our bookkeeping system also.

Especially since we have children, we appreciate having a church to go into on Sundays for worship service rather than use our home, like we did for the past five years.

The church is simple in design and offers a worshipful atmosphere. The adult service here in the village of Kaneko begins at 10:30. The attendance is not so large yet, but blessings are many.

Sister Junko and Brother Yoshito made posters stating the date, etc., for two evenings of special meetings and distributed them throughout this village. Brother Takeshita, from the country church, came in, and he and Willis had the services on the evenings of August 24 and 25. Nine new people attended these meetings in addition to regular attenders.

There are four Japanese members and, counting us, there are six members in this church. Three of them are from the country, two working in Tokyo and one attending the same university that Willis does. Brother Yoshito and Sister Junko teach the two Sunday School classes. Sunday School session is from 9 to 10:15.

Wednesday night we have an informal Bible Class in this church. We are studying the Gospel of Mark now. Since this is also Willis's responsibility, you can see he is rather busy with church responsibilities. Through the day he works on his thesis for graduation. He also teaches English part-time to business people and students who come here for their lessons. He still needs some Japanese language credits and hopes to complete those by next spring.

Then it will be time to tie ends and say farewell to all our dear brethren and friends here and leave for America, where we plan to visit until September. This is all subject to the Lord's will. We understand some brethren will fill our place while we are gone, for which we are very thankful.

One day last week a middle-aged woman sought shelter here until that evening, when the police were coming to her home to talk with her and her husband. The woman had run away from home the day before, because of mistreatment by her husband, and was afraid to go back. She ate quite heartily all the food in the tray I gave her.

Mr. Utsuki has built a new office to his house and asked that we come there one night each week for a scripture lesson, for the benefit of his family and neighbors. His family does not attend here on Wednesday night, so it looks like we will have to go there for a home meeting. By train it is about 40 minutes from here. Both he and Mrs. Utsuki are regular attenders.

One of the country sisters, Brother Takeshita's wife, has recovered from an ear ailment which impaired her hearing. As far as we know, all the members are well except Brother Akira Utsuki, who is able to work every day, but doesn't enjoy good health because of a nervous condition. Our little family is fine, and the children are growing so fast.

Perhaps you heard recently about the big typhoon Number 9 that did much damage to the area of Kofu and our country church. Many tile were blown off the roof of both the church and the little house beside it, as was the case with almost all buildings. The fruit trees were blown over, and Sister Asakawa's chicken house flew to the neighbors. Other farmers suffered much damage to their grape vineyards. Close to Brother Yoshito's home, there was more daaage and also loss of lives, as a river suddenly overflowed.

Will close for this time, wishing you much joy in believing in the risen and coming again Lord.

We always enjoy your letters, and are encouraged by your prayers and interest in the Lord's work.

Through this toilsome world, alas!
Once and only once I pass;
If a kindness I may show,
If a good deed I may do
To a suffering fellow man,
No delay, for it is plain
I shall not pass this way again.

CHRISTMAS THOUGHTS

(The third Silver Lining that was published, Dec. 15, 1943, a dear brother and minister of Toledo, Ohio, wrote the following article. Some years ago this brother, Jacob Frautsch, went to be with the Lord. But his memories are not forgotten. And all of us will only be remembered by what we have done. As the holiday season of the year is approaching on which this article is centered, it no doubt will be of interest to many to have it reprinted.)

Though the world is seething with trouble at this Christmas-time, let us begin this season like this: Open thou mine eyes, Lord, that I may behold the wondrous story of Thy love.

The most beautiful story in all the world is the record of the birth of Jesus, as given in Luke 2:8-20. It was the fulfillment of Old Testament prophecy, good tidings of the Saviour's coming, the hymn of praise of an immense heavenly choir, and the story of the wise men who followed a star.

Indeed: astronomers still insist that in the year before Jesus was born there was a formation of stars in the sky much like a grand parade of planets. Many of these stars were far, far away from their regular places in the sky. We can but believe that the Almighty God was proclaiming the fulfillment of His promise to send the Messiah! We can agree with the Psalmist, who said, All the Heavens declare the glory of God.

Christmas Joys are more than feasting; exchanging of gifts; and family reunions. Christmas joys are of the soul, lasting into time and eternity. The soul rejoices in the coming of Jesus, and rejoices in His Death and Resurrection. Therein is your salvation and mine. We will take with us this joy and praise into that great beyond, and there we will continue the everlasting song of praise and thanks, praising the Lamb that was slain, but now liveth forever. Amen.

DELIVERANCE WILL COME

I saw a way-worn trav'ler
In tatter'd garments clad,

And struggling up the mountain,
It seem'd that he was sad;
His back was somewhat laden,
His strength was almost gone,
Yet he shouted as he journeyed,
Deliverance will come.

The summer sun was shining,
The sweat was on his brow,
His garments worn and dusty,
His step seem'd very slow;
But he kept pressing onward,
For he was wending home;
Still shouting as he journeyed,
Deliverance will come.

The songsters in the arbor,
That stood beside the way,
Attracted his attention,
Inviting his delay:
His watchword being "Onward!"
He stopped his ears and ran,
Still shouting as he journeyed,
Deliverance will come.

I saw him in the evening,
The sun was bending low,
He'd overtopped the mountain,
And reached the vale below:
He saw the golden city,—
His everlasting home,—
And shouted loud, Hosanna,
Deliverance will come!

While gazing on that city,
Just o'er the narrow flood,
A band of holy angels
Came from the throne of God:
They bore him on their pinions
Safe o'er the dashing foam;
And joined him in his triumph,
Deliverance had come!

I heard the song of triumph
They sang upon that shore,
Saying, Jesus has redeemed us
To suffer nevermore:
Then, casting his eyes backward
On the race which he had run,
He shouted loud, Hosanna,
Deliverance has come!

DO I REALLY PRAY?

I often say my prayers,
But do I really pray?
And do the wishes of my heart
Go with the words I say?

For words without the heart
The Lord will never hear
Nor will He to those lips attend
Whose prayer is not sincere!

Lord, show me what I need
And teach me how to pray,
And help me when I seek thy grace
To mean the words I say.

By Ethel Blythe Penningroth.

I do not know the load my brother carries;
Oft hidden from the eye is each man's cross;
I only know his stumbling footstep
tarries
Under the burden of great pain or loss.
And since I do not know, may I keep ready
Because I know what such could mean to me
A word of courage, or a hand-clasp steady,
To ease one fainting step toward Cal-
